OUR EARTH IS OLD.

COPPER COMMONSENSE

By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright 1930 By King Features

Your temporary abode, the earth, according to Dr. Kovarik, learned physicist of Yale, is far older than 6,000 years, once the accepted age. The real age, calculated with remarkable accuracy, based on the gradual disintegration of radio active substances, is 1,853,000,000 years. That seems a long time to our feeble minds, but is less than a second in the eye of father time.

It is interesting to learn from Professor Osborne, of the natural history museum, that men have been living on earth not for 6,000 years, but for 40,000,000 years. And it is particularly encouraging to know that the life of our earth and our human life on it, which depends on the life of the sun, will last for many more billions of years.

Within 12,000 years men have moved up from the late stone age, with its sharp flints and bows and arrows, to this age of flying machines, wireless and submarines.

It men have done that in 12,000 years, what will they accomplish in the next 100,000,000 years?

In that time, we might even stop murdering each other in war, swindling and oppressing each other in peace.

The copper companies, wisely, agree to stop cutting each other's throats by producing more copper than the world can use, thus demoralizing prices, which fall below cost of production, demoralizing employment.

Results are already seen in a stabilized market and copper selling at 11 cents, an improvement, although far below normal.

It is taken for granted that the government will not object to the arrangement or insist that producers shall continue reckless competition.

A more important question is this: Will the companies hold together? Will copper men be able to do what the oil men vainly tried to do?

One mine can produce copper at a cost of two-thirds of production cost of another mine. One mine will have its copper cost reduced by a large saving by-product.

Will the more fortunate mines be content with their share of business and not try to get more by price cutting which they can afford and others can't afford?

Mr. George Eastman, intelligent, leading citizen of Rochester, N. Y., makes millions rapidly and gives them away usefully.

To the City of Paris he has offered $1,000,000 to build a dental clinic for school children under 16 years old.

No more useful gift could be devised.

France is backward in dentistry, compared with America, and nothing is more important than the care of teeth in childhood, neglected, unfortunately, in the case of millions of American children.

Driver Loses Auto

TOLEDO, Nov. 15.—Troubles come in pairs to Harold Heiden, 29. His car stalled on a Baltimore and Ohio crossing. He tried to crank it and a train came along and left him "holding the crank." A B. & O. detective arrested Heiden for trespassing.

Hurt By Bomb

William F. Heidergott, professor at Purdue University, who was seriously wounded by bomb explosion. The bomb was set off as the teacher stepped into his automobile in his garage at Lafayette, Ind. Police are attempting to discover a motive for an attack on him, but to date have been unsuccessful.

APPEALS JUDGE

L. B. HOUCK, 63, DIES AT HOME

Knox County Democratic Leader Ill For More Than Year

MOUNT VERNON, Nov. 15.—Judge Lewis B. Houck, a member of the fifth district court of appeals, and prominent Knox county Democrat, died at his home here late last night. Judge Houck, who was 63 years old, had been ill for more than a year. Complications caused the death of the aged jurist at 11:45 p. m. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at the family residence here and will be in charge of Rev. J. A. Long, Dayton, former pastor of the Vine Street Church of Christ here. Burial will be made in Mount View cemetery here.

DR. T. T. CHURCH

MAKES REPORT

Twenty Births and 16 Deaths Are Recorded in Salem During Month of October

Twenty births and 16 deaths occurred in Salem during the month of October. Dr. T. T. Church, city health commissioner, reported at the monthly meeting of the board of health Friday night.

Nine deaths occurred in the Fourth ward three in the First and two in the Second and Third. The Second ward led in births with seven six occurring in the First and Fourth, and one in the Third. Deaths occurred at following ages:

Under one month, one; between 10 and 23 years, one; 30-40, two; 40-50, one; 50-60 two; 60-70, four; 70-80, three, and between ages of 80 and 90, two.

There were five communicable diseases listed here during the month.

Riots At Madrid

(By Associated Press) MADRID, Nov. 15.—Rioting strikers battled with police in the streets today, smashing shop windows, overturning trolley cars and raising the cry of revolution.

Heads were cracked, and faces slashed as mounted police charged time after time to break up vicious free for all fights.

Forty thousand construction and metal workers walked out this morning in protest against "police brutality" in breaking up a major riot yesterday.

Salem High Team

Sets New Record

Led by Wilfred Brantingham who established a new Ohio interscholastic record, Salem High's cross country team won the state meet at Columbus this morning. Salem scored 35 points, its nearest competitors, Dayton Roosevelt and Columbus East who tied for second, getting 102 each.

Stone Worker Hurt

MILLERSBURG, Nov. 15.—Injuries received while operating a stone crusher, may prove fatal to Harrison Uhl, of the Uhl Brothers Construction company here.

REV. C. F. BAILEY

Program To Be Sponsored By Ministerial Association

M. E. CHOIR WILL PROVIDE MUSIC

Offering Will Be Donated To Red Cross Organization

Salem churches will unite in their annual Thanksgiving service sponsored by the Ministerial association here, at the Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday night Nov. 26.

Rev. C. F. Bailey, president of the association and pastor of the First Friends church, will be the principal speaker. Music appropriate to the occasion will be provided by the Methodist church choir.

Pastors of various churches in the city will participate in the special program arranged for the service.

By view of the great need for financial assistance by the Salem Red Cross chapter, the offering received at the service will be donated to that organization as an aid to the city's needy and unemployed. In previous years the offering was donated to Salem's Home for Aged Women.

The complete program for the Thanksgiving service is now being arranged by the city's pastors and will be announced next week.

Quest For Success

Ends In Failure

CLEVELAND, Nov. 15.—Two Akron High school girls were expected to be returned to their homes today after coming here with dreams of success as artists.

Goswami, 15, and Virginia Atherton, 14, took a train here yesterday. They spent their $4 capital, eating and attending shows and when they found themselves without funds last night, concluded their tour at the Central police station, according to officers. They were turned over to the women's bureau while police sought to communicate with their parents.

VETS' OFFICERS

ARE INSTALLED

R. C. Burbank, Department Commander of Ohio, In Charge Of Ceremonies Here

R. C. Burbank, department commander of Ohio, installed the new officers of Allen Reynolds post No. 802, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at a meeting Friday evening at the hall, East lake street. C. H. Hoffmann, of Youngstown, assisted him.

Commander Burbank gave a talk of interest to the members. He spoke of the splendid work which the Veterans of Foreign Wars are doing at the national home at Eaton Rapids, Mich. Lunch was served. The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. on Nov. 19.

Sunday Creek Coal

Officers Are Named

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15.—George K. Smith, of this city, has been elected president of the Sunday Creek Coal company, succeeding the late William E. Tytus, who lost his life in the recent disaster of the company's Millfield mine. It was announced here today.

Other officers elected in a reorganization, include: Chester C. Cook, first vice president and Seymour G. Hughes, secretary.

George F. Schwartz, of Columbus, was named manager of steam sales, and Frank S. Knox, Nelsonville, chief engineer in charge of mines and operation.

Blame Trolley Wire

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15.—The gas explosion which rocked the Millfield mine of the Sunday Creek Coal company and took the lives of 82 miners and officials of the company, was caused by a broken trolley wire, coming in contact with a rail, E. W. Smith, chief of the state division of mines reported today.

Smith said the discovery was made by state mine inspectors and was confirmed by an examination of the broken wire by Prof. D. J. Demorest, of the Metallurgical department at Ohio State university.

Level Ice Barrier

PUT-IN BAY, Nov. 15.—Put-In Bay no longer is to be cut off from the world by an ice barrier during the winter months. Two airplanes will be in service this winter to carry mail, passengers and supplies between here and Sandusky.

Hunter Is Lost

A posse of more than 100 men has been searching frantically through the Maine woods for Mitchell B. Kaufman, of Malden, Mass., president of the Converse Rubber company, who has been missing since November 5. He had become separated from his guide while on a hunting trip.

POLICE CHARGE

SALEM GIRL IS BANDIT LEADER

Detroit Authorities Will Question Mrs. Walter Evans

(By International News Service) CLEVELAND, Nov. 15.—All efforts of Cleveland police officials to link Mrs. Fern Balsam Evans, 20, and her brother-in-law, Raymond Evans, 18, arrested in Salem with several recent robberies in Cleveland and other cities in Ohio ended unsuccessfully, and today the pair was to be taken to Detroit where a similar attempt was to be made to implicate the young bride and the youth in recent holdups.

Police here stated that the girl denied she had taken part in any holdups in Ohio or Detroit. She allegedly admitted, however, to participating in a robbery at Muskegon, Okla. in which a policeman was shot. She denied the shooting, police said.

Detroit authorities charge that the girl is the ringleader of a large holdup gang which operates in midwest cities.

Walter Evans of Salem her husband, wanted in several states for questioning in connection with a series of burglaries, holdups and automobile thefts, was still at large today as police authorities throughout eastern Ohio continued a wide-spread search for him.

Salem police were without clues concerning his whereabouts and appeared certain that the man, recently released on parole from Mansfield reformatory, has left this city.

Information which resulted in the arrest of the youth and his sister-in-law and the attempted police said.

Service Department Inspects Supply From Smith Wells

SEEK ESTIMATES ON CAPACITY ALSO

Purchase Of Property Depends On Action Of State

Water pumped from the J. T. Smith well field, located in the northwest section of the city today is being subjected to tests by the Salem service department for the 15th consecutive day under supervision of Service Director Clyde R. Reich and City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff.

Daily tests have been made of water pumped from the wells since Thursday, October 30. The tests will be continued until definite results are obtained upon which the city officials will be able to base estimates on the maximum capacity of the water flow at the wells.

Tests Are Made

Chemical tests have been made of the water at regular intervals and these findings will be sent to the Ohio department of health at the completion of the city's experiments with the wells, Reich announced. Efforts are now being directed towards ascertaining the exact draw-down of the wells when water is being pumped continually.

Reich's action on the probable future purchase of the well field will be governed entirely by the state's action after results of chemical tests are sent to Columbus for further analysis. Water is being pumped from the wells daily in order that definite results may be obtained from tests as soon as possible.

Shows Strong Supply

On present results of tests the officials estimate that the wells will be governed entirely by the state's action after results of chemical tests are sent to Columbus for further analysis. Water is being pumped from the wells daily in order that definite results may be obtained from tests as soon as possible.

Fifteen Opinions Handed Down At Close Of Fall Term

LISBON, Nov. 15.—Fifteen opinions were handed down by the court of appeals when it closed its fall term here Friday afternoon. Only one of the 16 cases listed for argument failed in being presented to the court.

In the appeal case of Della Norris against George E. Patterson and others as executors of the will of the late Monroe Patterson of East Liverpool, the court has appointed Attorney Samuel W. Crawford of East Liverpool as referee to take testimony and reduce it to writing and make a report to the court.

Attached to the entry in this case there is the following memorandum: "Finding that the executors of the estate of Monroe Patterson deceased, are not required to furnish the Working Girl's Christian home in East Liverpool, O., out of the assets of his estate, but that under the provisions of his last will, the executors were required to construct a swimming pool in the basement, providing the same can reasonably be done to the approval of state authorities having control over such matters."

"In order that the association having in charge the home may have time to make an effort to equip the home, this cause is continued until the next regular term of this court in this county. If at that time it is reasonably certain that the association will be able to take over and conduct the home as contemplated by the will of Mr. Patterson, the executors will be required to repair all damage done the building since its construction and establish the swimming pool as has been indicated."

"In case the Memorial association is unable to proceed as has been indicated, a decree of foreclosure of title to such property will be entered and partition ordered as prayed for."

Allow Restraining Order

A temporary restraining order has been allowed in the case of A. L. Blake and others against J. T. Crook and others as members of the Board of Education of East Liverpool.

Femininity Finds Charming

Designs In Winter Apparel

Black Is Favored, Both For The Office And Dress; One Can Be Smartly Attired In Other Colors, Too

The time is at hand to plan the winter wardrobe.

Not in many years have Salem stores and shops been so well stocked with winter apparel and at prices so low.

It requires but a glance into stores catering to feminine tastes to note the attractive showing of coats and dresses. The prices rival those of pre-war days.

Black is undoubtedly smart as smart can be both for the office and dress costume. Many of the coats are also in black. In many instances black gowns are brightened with a touch of white at the neckline and cuffs.

Although black is popular, one can be just as smartly dressed in the shades of green, brown and blue and the very latest models to come from the wholesale markets are in the shades of red.

Details Important

What adds the last word to the season's trick is the perfection of the details with which the costume is matched.

If a dress is of a certain shade of green then all of the accessories are the same. The coat is green, the hat that tops the costume is a perfect match, a pair of either green leather or suede shoes, and a bag of a similar shade complete the costume.

Jersey business frocks in a range of colors and styles can be had today at low prices. In another group slightly higher priced are silk chiffrons, silk crepes, knitted wools, wool crepes and fleeced wools. Many bright shades are included among the dinner gown styles.

The dinner gowns which last year were given popular title of "Sunday night dresses" are really informally dressed and they are really the popular costume to wear on certain occasions from 5 to 8 p. m. For this gown, ankle length is the rule. The lines are extremely simple and the skirts are full, the circular type being in favor.

Sleeves are either long or short to suit the individual taste. A

NEW SOURCES OF PURCHASING POWER

The experts are still guessing what caused the 1930 depression, but long before they have finished their job another batch of experts will have designated the things which will cure it.

New sources of purchasing power is one solution advanced. Two such sources are to be found in a casual survey.

The maximum time payments for automobiles which constitute approximately one-half of all installment purchases, is 12 months. In other fields, radio sets, sewing machines, washing machines, refrigerators, furniture, clothing and the like, the period is apt to be shorter. It may be said that the average period for all installment buying is eight months.

A little more than a year ago the stock market crash curtailed the purchase of new goods. Instead of assuming new obligations people attempted to keep up installment payments on goods previously acquired. Installment and finance companies, at the same time were loathe to repossess goods on which the payments lagged because they were overstocked and because falling costs have enabled most merchandise to be produced today more cheaply than in 1929. It may be assumed, therefore, that a large number of the potential buyers who have been busy paying off their obligations for the last 10 or 12 months now are ready to buy again. The steady fall in prices since the stock market crash means that every dollar of this new purchasing power will purchase more goods than the dollar of 12 months ago.

Another source of consumer purchasing power that cannot be overlooked in the Christmas club fund, amounting to something like $600,000,000. Estimates of the uses to which Christmas fund money was put in 1929, if applicable to this year, indicate that the money will be distributed as follows: Retail purchases, $240,000,000; savings or investment, $190,000,000; year-end commitments, $30,000,000; and the remainder into insurance, mortgages, taxes, travel, charity and so forth.

THE MILLION-DOLLAR GAME

Overemphasis on football has been forgotten for the moment to allow the United States Military and Naval academies to play a million-dollar game in the Yankee stadium. Proceeds from the game will be distributed among the unemployed of the United States.

Officers in both academies could do nothing but give their consent to the game, despite the fact that it interferes with the semi-annual examinations in the two schools. Annapolis and West Point, however, are supported by taxation—and are, therefore, under the mandate of the taxpayers in such matters. It is assumed that the taxpayers approve, at least they are the ones expected to make the million-dollar game.

It is interesting to note also that the differences of opinion which have made army-navy games impossible since 1927 are disregarded for the moment.

The navy doesn't care how close its opponents are to professionalism for a game.

Twenty per cent of the proceeds will go to New York City and to Chicago, 12 per cent to Detroit, 10 per cent to Boston, and the remaining 58 per cent to other cities in the United States according to the degree of their unemployment. Disregarding the fact that no one as yet, has been able to perform such a miracle as ascertaining the degree of unemployment accurately enough to warrant the division of money on their estimate, and that by the time the proceeds are divided, subdivided, transferred and doled out each person will receive just about enough to buy one meal, it is an excellent plan growing out of a worthy conception of service.

The Roman Emperors staged games to keep the hungry public amused, but staged them free. The United States has a better idea. It stages to amuse those who aren't hungry and uses the proceeds to feed the hungry.

What Others Say

A WELLSPIKED MYTH

Out of the uncertainty and fearfulness, often bordering on hysteria, that accompany business depression disquieting rumors come in a flood. Unemployment must be exaggerated in mouth-to-mouth reports. Bad news travels fast, good news is put in pockets. It is used in flood-vouso fashion after recovery comes. This is all a part of the psychology that is the effect of bad times and more than half the cause of their continuance.

Nothing has a more depressing effect on the minds of millions of workers than reports that wage cuts are becoming general, that salaries everywhere are being scaled down with dropping commodity prices. I do not matter if the reports are false. Every one who takes them to heart practices stricter and stricter retrenchment, spending nothing, buying nothing, saving against the day when the income cut will reach his envelope.

This most undesirable type of rumor has been pretty general in recent months. Figures have been bandied about loosely to spread the belief that wage cuts in a national sense have been deep and wide. As a matter of fact, they have not. To a remarkable extent American business and industry, forced to lay off some employees and to employ others on part-time schedules, have responded to the national plea to sustain wages.

The reports of the National Industrial Conference board throughout the depression have stated facts and stood by conservative interpretation of facts, even when such interpretation was pessimistic. The most recent survey of the board indicates that in every recent month the increase in wages to workers on one hand have nearly balanced decrease on the other. During a period of several months wage reports compiled from more than 3,000,000 representative workers show that 31,565 of these received wage increases and 59,941 were affected by wage decreases. Approximately 25,000 more workers received cuts than received increases, or less than one per cent of the wage earners for whom reports are available. Economically, this is the only way in which wage decrease can be fairly measured, and economically the decrease is negligible.

The board report disposes of one rumor that has been persistent and harmful. And while American business has not yet recovered its accustomed vigor, there is no longer good cause for the timidity that keeps regularly employed workers from satisfying their needs and, in turn, keeps other workers from supplying those needs.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, Nov. 16

Sunday's horoscope is of fair importance, with things running in the accustomed groove, albeit some stubborn obstruction, a disappointment or delay may be encountered. This mediocre state of affairs in business may be offset by happy personal activities and benefits.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which some stubborn obstacles may have to be met and overcome before a smooth running of affairs ensues. There may be delays, disappointments and depressions, but personal matters will prove compensatory. A child born on this day may be tenacious and persistent and may win over many difficult situations. I should have a fairly happy personal life to make up for adversities.

For Monday, Nov. 17

Monday's astrological chart holds symbols of many conflicting conditions. There is sign of sudden change and much activity or exciting circumstances, but the financial outlook is hazardous, and hints of sudden loss through speculation or ill-advised investment. Or through personal extravagance or excess.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of unforeseen change, but one attended by financial hazards and loss through speculation, indulgence or carelessness. It is a year calling for much circumspection generally. A child born on this day should be enterprising, adventurous and given to new and untried efforts, in speculative rather than wholly practical directions. It should be good for promotion or publicity.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—For ten days I have been struggling hopelessly to raise—er is it rear?—a mustache. Somewhere I read they were to be all the go this winter. But today I gave up the struggle and my upper lip is again back in the open and I forgive Clarabell Wash who on the third day of the sprout had my coffee served at her dinner.

I even forgave Clarabell Wash who on the third day of the sprout had my coffee served at her dinner. I am frankly I neither aspired to one of those western sheriff drooped nor an uptight affair, suggesting two stuffed snats under glass, like Paul Whitman's.

What I wanted was just a plain middle class family style mustache that would bloom in all its wild levelness without barber's pomade, expert combing or a ship on cover when I retired for the night. I realized I would never be much as a mustache stroker.

Indeed there have been rumors I do not comb my hair half the time. The real trouble in my mustache experimentation was the darn thing had no symmetry. It grew six different ways and by time it reached maturity resembled an outcast toothbrush that Bill Edwards stepped on. You know—bla-a-a!

Watching it was like gazing at a frog to see which way it would jump. It was all out of kilter and cock-eyed from the start. Had I left it alone for another week it would have like trailing arbutus, been running down the back of my collar.

At first it was great fun. I would nap awhile at night and then pop into the bathroom to note progress in the mirror. One night during inspection my wife called out sleepily: "The magnifying glass is on top your dressing table!" But she didn't have to add: "I'll bet all the girls chase you tomorrow!"

I think about the sixth day enthusiasm began to cool. The mustache had the appearance of suddenly growing tired of it all and wilting. I tried to perk it up with a little petting and despite discouragement decided to hang on a while longer.

I have endured calumny and smart cracking jeers about spats for years but they don't hold a candle to a growing mustache for inspiring sarcasm. Persons I had only known by sight for years grew suddenly intimate. A crossing cab called out cheerfully: "I've seen worse in Police Gazette pictures."

And I distinctly heard the switchboard operator in a certain building say to an elevator man as I passed: "There goes the old personality boy!"

Nor was I too deaf to catch that crack of a celery blond waitress in a Madison avenue restaurant who after turning away with my order whispered to one of her sisters: "It must be alive. It breathes."

It went like this everywhere for nine days preceding the shearing, including the almost unforgivable thrust of the chorus girl near the stage entrance of the New Amsterdam who chirped to her companion after a glance at me: "Vivile Vincent! I bet he could open a train window."

Frank Sullivan offers a crumb of comfort in relating why Harold Ross, editor of the New Yorker, got rid of his stiff and widely discussed pompadour and now has a head of flat hair. It seems Ina Claire in beholding the pompadour across the dining room of the Algonquin sighed and said she would never be happy until she could take off her shoes and wade through Ross's hair. That decided him.

One thing I learn about mustaches. There is a decided art in growing them. You can't merely quit shaving and trust to luck. When you see one like, say Adolphe Menjou's, depend upon it he has coaxed, fawned upon and sat up with it nights for years. Mustaches, unlike columnists, don't just happen.

You wouldn't think men with over-Niagara mustaches like Laurence D'Orey had time to accomplish anything. But I have seen them become presidents of first national banks in towns like Ottumwa, Iowa, and everything.

With my luck I'm better off without a mustache. It would probably freeze up and break off this winter anyway.

"Cancer Calls For Promptness"

Years ago the word "cancer" brought horror and fear to everybody. Cancer seemed about the worst thing that one could have. Today this disease is still greatly dreaded, but it is handled more sanely and more successfully.

Many of our best doctors and research workers have devoted their entire lives to the study of this disease. Some have died in their efforts to solve the many problems with in the cure of this disease. This is particularly true of the x-ray workers. As a result of much exposure to the rays, they suffered great burns and permanent bodily damage. These martyrs achieved much and their efforts were not in vain. Today, as a result of their work we have much definite knowledge regarding this disease and how to control and apply the X-ray in safety.

I am often asked whether there is a cure for cancer. At present we know of no medicine serum or inoculation that will cure cancer. Much valuable work is being done but assertions or claims of cure are not to be accepted in the light of present knowledge.

I am sorry to say this but, unfortunately the "cures" offered the public are a snare and a delusion.

Medical societies are endeavoring to place vendors of useless nostrums in the hands of the proper authorities. This is well because many useless and fraudulent remedies are often quite as dangerous as cancer. They give a false sense of security and their use permits precious time to be wasted. Time as you will see is a very important factor in the cure of this disease.

Aside from the proper use of the X-ray and radium in certain types, surgery is the only cure for cancer. Cancer that is recognized in its early stages and removed immediately by operation will lead to cure in almost 100 per cent of cases.

Unfortunately most of us fear operations. It is because of this fear and consequent delay in being operated upon that their exits the present high mortality in cancer.

As soon as you suspect something is wrong no matter what it is consult your doctor. The chances are you have no cancer but if you have and he advises operation, have it done immediately. I know of many instances where a person has actually diagnosed his own trouble knew he had cancer but refused to consult a physician for fear an operation would be advised. This is terrible because such cases of cancer will never be cured of themselves or by medicine.

If we could only make everybody understand that surgery in the early stages of cancer is a simple procedure we could remove the terrifying and bitter effects of advanced cancer. Many finally submit to operation after having suffered untold misery not only for themselves, but for their families. It is then often too late to operate.

Sudden swellings, tumors, sores, abrasions, and ulcers are not always true cancer. Delay in treatment of what in the beginning is a harmless thing increases the chances of development of the disease at a later time. The cure for cancer depends on early recognition of the disease and early operation. If surgery is the cure and must be done why delay? Surgery will only cure if applied in time.

Anxious. Q.—What should a woman of 51 1/2 ft. 11 in. tall weigh?
A.—She should weigh about 13 pounds.
(Copyright, 1930, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

An early small operation often saves the necessity of having a larger operation done later. The sooner you have proper treatment the less the seriousness of the operation the less the expense and the less the loss of time from your work. Take heed of all warnings that your body gives you. Above all things take advantage of all that modern science has to offer you. If you have noticed any lump or sore and this has remained with you a few weeks go to your doctor at once. Find out the truth about it.

H. K. Q.—What do you advise for dandruff?
2.—What should a boy of 15, 5 ft. 8 in. tall weigh?
3.—What can be done for nervousness?

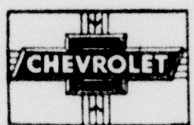

A.—Keeping the hair and scalp immaculately clean with frequent shampooing and careful rinsing and using a good, stimulating hair tonic should be generally helpful.

2.—He should weigh about 130 pounds.

3.—Improve the health and the nerves will benefit.

PRESENTING THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

Today the Chevrolet Motor Company presents the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six, a new model of the six-cylinder car which has enjoyed such wide popularity.

In both the chassis and body of this new six-cylinder Chevrolet you will find expressed, as never before, Chevrolet's well-known policy of progress through constant improvement.

For—without departing from the basic features which have won the enthusiastic approval of over 2,000,000 buyers—Chevrolet has produced a six-cylinder car which represents an entirely new standard of quality, value and refinement in the low-price field.

Your first impression of the new Chevrolet will be one of striking fleetness, grace and beauty. The car is longer, lower and modernly smart. The radiator has been deepened and its appearance enhanced by a curving tie-bar and chrome-plated parabolic headlamps. The long hood lines sweep back unbroken to blend gracefully into the new Fisher bodies. And never was Fisher's fine craftsmanship more evident than in the bodies of the new Chevrolet Six!

Not only are the smart, graceful, new bodies roomier and more comfortable, but as you study them you will discover many gratifying new features and pleasing refinements—many examples of that painstaking attention to detail which is the basis of true quality.

Mechanically, too, the new Chevrolet Six is a better automobile. The wheelbase is longer. The frame is stronger. The steering is easier. The clutch is more durable. There is a smoother, quieter, easier shifting transmission. In fact, wherever finer materials and more advanced design could add to Chevrolet quality or increase Chevrolet's traditional economy of ownership—improvement has been made. See the new Chevrolet Six—and you will agree that here is the Great American Value!

» » AT NEW LOW PRICES « «

Chevrolet has long been one of the lowest priced cars in the world. Yet due to the savings of volume production and increased manufacturing efficiency, the Bigger and Better Chevrolet is offered at new low prices. Come in today. See and drive the new Chevrolet Six. Learn the new economy of owning a modern, fine quality, six-cylinder automobile.

POLICE UNDER EYES OF JURY

Chicago Seeking To Pull Cover From Alleged Irregularities

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—A secretive but determined grand jury was reported today to be tugging at the cover to alleged police irregularities.

The grand jury men refused any comment on their endeavor, but newspapermen were told in sources they considered authoritative that the scope of the inquiry was bounded only by the statute of limitations—three years.

The privacy with which the grand jury delved extended, it was reported, to the exclusion of assistant States Attorney Edwin Spiro, in charge of routine grand jury work, from their rooms while they discussed the investigation.

For two hours the grand jurors heard from Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlain, operating director of the Chicago crime commission and Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller, also was closeted with the inquirers for some time. Neither revealed the nature of the testimony.

ADD EMPLOYEES, LEGION URGES

Suggests to Col. Arthur Woods That Every Firm Increase Personnel By 10 Percent

(By United Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, INL., Nov. 15.—The American Legion has proposed to Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the National Emergency committee for unemployment, that every firm in the country which employs 10 or more men add 10 per cent to its personnel as a relief measure.

Ralph T. O'Neil, national legion commander, telegraphed the proposal to Colonel Woods after a meeting of the legion unemployment commission at headquarters here.

The addition of 10 per cent would relieve unemployment and restore prosperity, the commission decided.

Mrs. C. W. Moul reported the recent Eastern conference at Warren. "How Two Thank Offering Boxes Started a Missionary Society" was the subject of a reading by Mrs. Charles Davidson. Hilda Franke sang a solo.

Plans were made for the annual thank-offering service on Sunday evening, November 23, when a special program will be given.

Dr. and Mrs. P. H. Gordon, who returned Friday from their summer home in Maine, are at the home of Mrs. W. F. Courtney, North Rose avenue.

APPEALS COURT NAMES REFEREE

pool school district. The court has set the bond in this issue at $200. Attorney Frank H. Hoover has been appointed referee by the court in this issue to take testimony and reduce it to writing and make a report to the court.

When this issue was tried in common pleas court, Judge W. F. Leavens refused to grant an injunction against the board of education from transporting children from the Walker's school district to East Liverpool schools. Blake and his associates then took an appeal to the higher court. The granting of the temporary order in the Appellate court acts as a stay against the board of education from inaugurating a bus service for the children in the Walker's school district until the issue is finally disposed of by the court.

Other opinions handed down by the court follow:

Amanda Smith, administrator, against George W. Runyon and others, appeal. Attorney Charles C. Connell of Lisbon appointed referee to take testimony and reduce it to writing and make a finding of facts and conclusions of law and report to the court.

Kerr Lumber Co., against David H. Turner, appeal. Finding for the plaintiff. Foreclosure of loan ordered, and the cause certified to the court of common pleas for such proceedings as are authorized by law. A motion for a new trial has been overruled.

Youngstown & Ohio River Railroad Co., against Howard Holloway, error. Petition in error dismissed. Exceptions noted.

T. L. Grady against Sara Snyder, error. Judgment of the lower court affirmed.

City of East Liverpool against Lillie D. Aiken, error. Judgment of the lower court affirmed.

G. Richard Thomas, doing business as the Reo Sales & Service Co., against The Central Acceptance Corp., error. Judgment reversed because contrary to law, and final judgment entered for plaintiff.

State of Ohio on relation of Kate A. Fisher against The City of Wellsville, Mandamus. Dismissed at costs of defendant.

Ella T. Bradford against Clarence J. Loch, error. Judgment reversed as to Ella Bradford, and affirmed as to E. C. Bradford. Exceptions.

Louis Andrie against industrial commission of Ohio, Mandamus. Not heard.

Industrial commission of Ohio against Nellie Whitcomb, Error. Judgment reversed because contrary to law and against the evidence. Exceptions.

Lester Cawood against Addie M. Morrison, error. Both parties granted leave to withdraw their briefs and file new briefs.

W. Blair Steel against State of Ohio, Error. Sentence set aside and cause remanded for resentencing. Exceptions. This case was originated in municipal court, East Liverpool.

Stevensville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Co., against Rose Metz, error. Judgment affirmed. Exceptions.

Springfield Township Mutual Fire Ins. Co., against C. W. Foster, Error. Cause submitted and certified for consideration at the next regular term of this court in Jefferson county, which will be December 15.

DAMES OF MALTA

When Peace sisterhood, Dames of Malta, met Friday evening at the hall, East State street, plans were made for a social for the members and their families with a coverslip supper a feature. The date for the social was not set.

Mrs. Mabel Kline, deputy, and Mrs. McCrea, of Niles, were guests of the sisterhood. Mrs. Kline gave a talk.

Preceding the meeting, members of the Sapphire club honored Mrs. Kline with a surprise coverslip supper at the home of Mrs. Sylvia Lockhart, Washington avenue.

FAIRVIEW P. T. A. MEETS

A program was given at a meeting of the Fairview Parent-Teacher association held Friday evening at the schoolhouse, south of Salem. It was composed of these numbers: Song by the school, "The Wickedest Bird That Flies," Mrs. Wills McCarty; "Come Let Us Be Thankful," Mrs. Harry Vincent, vocal duet, Helen and Gladys Vincent; "What Lindbergh Thinks of the Press," Mrs. Raymond Hertz, "Praising Willie," Mrs. Ed Grubbs.

The teacher, Mrs. Kexa Gardner conducted games. Lunch was served.

SOUTH SIDE CLUB

Mrs. Charles Hippy and Mrs. Henry Sheen were included in the guest list when members of the South Side club were entertained by Mrs. J. W. Yates Thursday afternoon at her home, Lisbon road.

Nedrick was a diversion while the members visited. The hostess served lunch. In four weeks the members will be guests of Mrs. William Heckler, Lisbon road. A Christmas box will be opened at that meeting.

HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. S. J. Broomall entertained at a luncheon Friday at her home, South Lincoln avenue.

The guests included former college friends.

These from out of town were: Mrs. F. S. Williamson, Alliance; Mrs. H. E. Williams, Lisbon; Mrs. Roland Coppock, Winona; Miss Ora Gross and Mrs. W. S. Baker, Columbiana.

AT WINDLE HOME

Prizes at bridge were awarded Mrs. H. H. Hickling and Mrs. Arthur Brian at an assembly of club associates Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William C. Windle, Homewood avenue. Three tables were engaged in the game. Lunch was served by the hostess. In two weeks the members will meet again.

MRS. APPLE HOSTESS

Employees in the decorating department of the Salem China company had a party recently at the home of Mrs. D. L. Apple, at Damascus. There were 20 in the company.

Games provided entertainment. Freda Webber received the box of candy given away.

LADIES AUXILIARY

At a meeting of the Ladies auxiliary No. 8, Patriarchs Militant, Friday evening at the hall, South Broadway, plans were made for the inspection on Friday evening, Dec. 12. It will be conducted by Clyde B. Jacobs, of Youngstown.

Mrs. E. Farmer, South Luney avenue, was a guest Thursday at the home of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Burbick, Leontia.

SOCIAL CLUB DANCE

The Three Links Social club of the Odd Fellows will hold a Guest Night dance Monday evening at the hall, South Broadway. Ray Bartholomew's orchestra will play the dance program.

Frank Brand was in Alliance Friday, having been called there by the death of Mrs. Margaret Bard of Indianapolis, Ind.

NURSE WINS IN FIGHT FOR LIFE

Breathes Without Mechanical "Lung" In Chicago Hospital

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Frances McGann, 25-year-old nurse, kept alive two months by a mechanical lung, fought today against a new menace threatened by habitual dependence on the respirator.

For the first time since infantile paralysis deadened her lung muscles, she awoke in a hospital bed, temporary victor over the fear that sleeping outside the respirator might mean death.

Dr. John Favill, the physician attending her at St. Luke's hospital, praised her courage in overcoming her panic, and told her she was "almost ready to breathe alone."

The student nurse's reluctance to sleep while outside the respirator machine has been the major difficulty in her otherwise uninterrupted recovery.

Hospital attendants explained that while her desire to get well has caused her to minimize the pain she experiences in breathing alone, her convalescence has been complicated by her insistence that she be in the machine while asleep.

However, Miss McGann is aware of the importance of her own strengthening muscles, assuming the functions that have been done by the machine, and has promised to master her fears.

Her progress toward recovery has been steady. Yesterday, she completed an 18-hour period outside the lung machine. On other occasions, she has breathed without it for nine and ten hours, always, however, while awake.

CUT IN INCOME TAX RATES MAY BE ABANDONED

Hoover Expects Small Deficit At End Of Fiscal Year

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—President Hoover believes there will be a small treasury deficit at the end of the fiscal year and this view today reduced hope of maintaining the current reduced income tax rate.

The necessary expenditures are expected by the president, without cause for alarm, to exceed revenue "by a comparatively small percentage."

"As we have had surpluses over many years," he said, yesterday, "we probably can stand a small deficit over one year without disturbing the stability of the government."

Smoot Opposes Reduction

He did not say the temporary one per cent income tax cut made last year would have to be abandoned, but the chairman of the Senate Finance committee, Senator Smoot of Utah, said he opposed continuance of the reduction. His word on fiscal affairs is considered authoritative.

As the reduction voted last year was temporary, the rates will revert to their higher level unless congress acts, which it is unlikely to do without administration urging.

The permanent scale enacted two years ago ranges from 1 1/2 per cent for personal incomes of $4,000 or less to five per cent for incomes of $8,000 or more, with 12 per cent as the rate for corporations and insurance companies.

Holds Up Decision

President Hoover said final consideration of appropriation estimates was being held up to afford the maximum possible information on the government's income. Among other items the amount he will recommend for expediting public construction has not been determined.

Earlier in the year the chief executive and Secretary Mellon had voiced confidence the emergency rates could be continued this year. Their expressions had followed, however, a prediction by treasury experts that the extended reduction had little chance.

MAI DAUGHERTY TO STAND TRIAL

Former Official Of Closed Bank Loses Abatement Plea

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, C. H. O. Nov. 15.—Mai S. Daugherty, former president of the closed Ohio State Savings bank, must stand trial on 15 indictments charging him with misappropriation of funds of the bank.

A jury which heard his plea for abatement of the indictments returned a verdict against him late yesterday after hearing testimony of the grand jurors who voted the true bills last October.

Daugherty sought abatement of the indictments on the ground that two special auditors of the bank, Cecil L. Hall and Frank G. Schaefer, of Cincinnati, were admitted to the grand jury's quarters. The grand jurors testified that Hall and Schaefer were called before them, but were not present during deliberations.

Common Pleas Judge H. M. Rankin, whose removal from the hearing was unsuccessfully asked by Daugherty, previously told the jury not to consider charges that the former banker was not advised of his constitutional rights.

Daugherty also was expected, to be arraigned today on two new indictments returned against him this week.

EAST ROCHESTER

Mrs. Zoe Murray entertained the Busy Workers Sunday school class of the Methodist Episcopal church at her home, Wednesday afternoon. The lesson study period was in charge of Mrs. Jennie Myers and Mrs. F. L. Krier. A short Armistice day program was given. There were fourteen members and the following visitors present: Mrs. Grace Lowery, Mrs. Grant Walker, Mrs. Marion Messimore, Mrs. Anna McElmore, and Miss Gladys Haldeman. A lunch was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. John Myers, and family of Alliance visited Miss Mary Brenner, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Myers entertained his son and family of Cleveland over Sunday.

Mrs. LeRoy Elton visited her mother, Mrs. Moore in Wellsville, Thursday.

HOLY TRINITY ENGLISH LUTHERAN

Rev. George D. Keister, pastor. (All services in the Memorial building on East State street). Twenty second Sunday after Trinity.

Sunday school, 9:45 (Matthew 8:5-13). H. E. Smith, Supt.

Afflictions and diseases of the body are part of life's possibilities and our condition. Foolish is that person who thinks that these mortal frames of ours are not subject to the consequences of sin in the human race. Those people in sound health very rarely realize to what state and condition sickness can bring one. It takes a bedridden, chronic sufferer in the body to point the way to gratitude for the blessing of health. We are sure of the interest and concern of Jesus, the Great Physician, about our condition and state. Why try to bear all the burdens alone, when Jesus the Great Burden-bearer is willing to help us?

Morning worship, 11. Sermon, "Progressing Christians."

There is progress in life. There is progress in one's spiritual life, at least there should be. At first our loyalty and faith may be of a weak and uncertain type. With this state, if we are in earnest we cannot long be satisfied. Accepting Christ as Savior may seem like a simple and easy matter. This acceptance leads us beyond mere assent. We must soon become ardent and enthusiastic disciples.

From the state of discipleship we shall soon be advanced to the place of higher activity. We shall be entrusted with some work of the Kingdom. Progress is inevitable.

Luther League, 6:30 p. m. The Sunday evening devotional topic is, "Jesus, an Example of Stewardship." George Wills is the leader. The annual meeting of the congregation will be held on Thursday. Reports of organizations, elections and reports of officers will be items of business.

Preaching services at the Washingtonville Lutheran church Sunday evening at 7:30.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

The First Presbyterian church presents two special services in the Loyalty Crusade for Sunday. In the morning at 11 Rev. Claude S. Conley will preach on "Stewardship of Life." This is stewardship Sunday in the Crusade and this is stewardship year in the Presbyterian church.

The evening service will be unusual in that it will be conducted by the Missionary society. Mrs. Charles T. Moke, of Youngstown, president of the Synodical Missionary society, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Moke is widely known as one of the outstanding leaders in Missionary work. Her address will interest both men and women and we are expecting a large crowd to welcome her.

The church school, with Lee B. Vincent as superintendent, will open at 9:45 a. m. There is a class for everyone.

The Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:30 p. m. will be addressed by Dr. T. T. Church. The young people are looking forward to this meeting as one of interest and promise.

Christian Endeavor at 6:30 to 7:30. Topic: "Loyalty to Self." Dr. Church will talk to the young people on this subject. Harold Hutcherson will be in charge. The C. E. Crusade goal is 103. The average attendance for the first three Sundays is 41. This means a gain of 170 percent over the average attendance previous to the Crusade. Hurrah for the young people. However, there is still work ahead—and a little competition from now on. Find out tonight! The young people who are now attending C. E. but who are not members will be given an opportunity to join on November 30, two weeks from today.

THE CHURCH OF OUR SAVIOUR

870 East State street. Rev. Christian A. Roth, rector. Services Sunday, November 16, the twenty-second Sunday after Trinity.

Celebration of the Holy Communion 7:30.

Church school 9:30.

Morning Prayer and sermon 11. The church has many words interpreting her character. In the creed we speak of her as the Holy Catholic church. St. Paul speaks of her as the Body of Christ, signifying her relationship to Him who is the Head. The prayer book defines her as the Household, suggesting the idea of a family, and it appeals to us, for the word is full of the warmth of love and fellowship. God Himself instituted the family, and Christ sanctified it in the Nazareth home as well as in His teachings. The home lies at the center of civilization and the deeper our love of God and man, the stronger becomes our love for all in the circle of the household. Christianity binds us together. We are all one in Christ Jesus, and so we are fulfilling our Lord's prayer for unity.

1 DEAD, 6 HURT IN CAR CRASH

Motorman Dies In Flames As Trolleys Collide Near Toledo

(By United Press)

TOLEDO, Nov. 15.—One man was burned to death and six other persons were seriously injured early today when two Lake Shore Electric railway cars collided at the southeastern limits of the city. Confusion in orders and a dense fog were held responsible for the collision. One of the cars was scheduled to wait at the Hayes siding until the other had passed.

Will Thurston, of Hesville, motorman on a Toledo bound freight car, was burned to death in the wreckage of the vestibule of his car.

There were only two other men on the freight car, Ray Rex, of Fremont, the conductor, and George Renick, of Fremont, also an employee of the railway company. Both were severely injured.

The other car was a Toledo-to-Cleveland bound passenger car with 15 persons aboard. All the passengers were bruised and shaken and four of them were injured seriously.

The more severely hurt were Russell Baker of Fremont, motorman; Miles Ferguson of Fremont, conductor; Charles Hanville of Fremont and Sarg Peckman of Fremont. The latter two men also were understood to have been employees of the company.

The splintered front end of the freight car caught fire immediately after the crash and Thurston was burned to death before spectators had a chance to extricate him.

Lincoln and State street, A. C. Westphal, pastor.

Describes Fourviere, Scene Of French Landslide

FOURVIERE HILL, LYONS, FRANCE, WHERE LANDSLIDE OCCURRED.

C. J. Ruhl of Jennings avenue was more than ordinarily interested in news dispatches of the tremendous landslide at Lyons, France, Thursday, in which it is estimated that more than 60 persons were lost as their homes were crushed beneath thousands of tons of earth and rock.

Ruhl was in Lyons while he was a member of the A. E. F. during the World war and on one occasion visited the Cathedral St. Jean, which surmounts Fourviere hill, a portion of which slipped after being loosened by heavy rains.

In the accompanying article he describes his visit to the famous spot.

"About twelve years ago while serving in the American Expeditionary forces in France, I had the good fortune to secure a four-day pass for Lyons which is the second largest city in France.

"While there among the many historic sights, I saw was the famous Fourviere hill which was the scene of the landslide Thursday.

"This hill banks the city on one side and is so steep that a narrow gauge railroad is used to reach the top. Should you care to climb the hill on foot, it takes about two hours and is real work as the top of the hill is one mile above the city.

"On top of this hill is the Cathedral of St. Jean, which is next in size to the great Notre Dame of Paris.

"This cathedral is so large that at the time we were there we were forced to employ a guide to show us around. The Cathedral of St. Jean was started in 1107 and in 1500 was first put in use although not finished. It was here that Henry IV was married in 1593.

"The stones of which it is built are brown and are at least three feet square as I remember it. The pillars on the inside are at least 180 feet high and of the finest white marble. All this heavy work was raised by hand.

The doors to the entrance are at least 40 feet high and 20 feet wide, the lumber being about eight inches thick and swinging on hinges about three feet long. The day we visited the cathedral, we had an excellent view of the city and as it happened to be clear, we could, with the aid of glasses, see the capped peak of Mt. Blanc which our guide told us was 125 miles away. With the sun shining on these we all admitted that we never saw a more beautiful sight.

"Very few men of the A. E. F. who got to Lyons missed this sight. Typical of all French cathedrals during the World war there were a number of beggars at the doors of the church and one was almost forced to drop a few Scus in their hands as you entered or left.

Lyons at this time had almost a million people and was second to Paris in gaiety. It lies in the Rhone valley and it is here that the Rhone and the Saone rivers meet. The Rhone comes from the Alps and it was filled with ice in January when we were there while in its vicinity, one could well use an overcoat, but by walking a block or so you came to the Saone river which came from the warmer parts of France and here the overcoat could easily be discarded.

When we were in Lyons there were plenty of U. S. soldiers there on leave and also plenty of military police to see that the leave did not last too long.

Lyons is known the world over for its silk manufacture and although we were there the middle of January, the merchants and manufacturers were getting ready for the annual "Silk Fair" which is held annually the middle of March.

FIND CHARMING WINTER COLORS

Femininity Much In Favor Of Black For Winter Apparel

number of styles combine lace of the same shade or of a brighter hue. Charming numbers of this variety are economically available.

Blue, black, bittersweet, and red seem to be the most popular shades in this class.

The informal attire worn on "bridge dress" is noted for its simplicity in style and moderate price. It is shown in silk crepe, and wool. The wool style is of a more tailored type. Black again predominates in this line of dress, although dark green, blue and brown are shown in charming styles.

The wide variety of styles makes it possible to please the most fastidious. A touch of white, cream or beige appears at many of the neck lines.

Yarn flowers, a touch of beading and narrow bands of broad-tail give an added dressy touch to the gowns.

Dresses worn for street, school or travel are of average length; the afternoon dress is several inches lower and the dinner and evening gowns are of ankle length. There seems to be no deviation for the ankle length style.

Metal Blues Popular
Black velvet with lace trimmings is a particular favorite for an informal gown. The stores are also showing rich looking metal blues which lend themselves so well to the suit skirt or the separate skirt which are featured this year.

The blues have long sleeves and are offered in many styles and colors. They are priced most reasonably. While on the subject of blues many attractive ones are on sale in shades of blue and tan. The slip-on sweater in the darker shades is also included in a well balanced wardrobe.

Fur coats, cloth coats rich with fur trimmings, and the tailored sport coat are all included in the vogue for the winter season. Cloth coats made rich with luxurious fur are regarded as particularly smart. Black, brown, blues, greens and red all heavily fur trimmed are in high favor.

Opportunity knocks in Salem shopping values—and a trip to the stores is more than ordinarily interesting!

DEATHS

O. W. KURTZ

MINERVA, Nov. 15.—Funeral service for Oscar W. Kurtz, 72, retired teacher, who died Thursday evening at his home here, following an illness of heart disease, was held Saturday afternoon at the Presbyterian church in charge of Rev. M. A. Woolf and Rev. Bay. Burial was made in Eastlawn cemetery.

Mr. Kurtz was born near Minerva and spent his life here with the exception of 10 years when he was superintendent of the Bedford schools. He was superintendent of the Minerva schools for 16 years. For about four years he was cashier of the Minerva bank. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and teacher of the Mens Brotherhood class of this church until last February. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge.

Besides his widow, Alice Smith Kurtz, he is survived by one sister, Sophronia K. Hall, of Youngstown, and a brother, Harry E. Kurtz, of Canton.

Divorce Is Asked

LISBON, Nov. 15.—Charles Stallsmith, through his counsel, L. M. Kyes, has filed a petition for divorce against his wife, Pearl C. Stallsmith, whose residence is unknown to him, charging her with extreme cruelty. The couple were married in 1903 and have four children, ranging in age from 26 to 15 years. Stallsmith declares in his petition that he was compelled to leave his wife June 5, 1921 and that he has not lived with her since. The court has ordered service on the defendant by publication.

POLICE CHARGE WOMAN LEADER

Mrs. Walter Evans Questioned By Cleveland Authorities

arrest of Walter Evans here, was received from Bert Menace, Detroit, Mich., man, who was apprehended on a burglary charge in Detroit earlier in the week. Menace gave police names and descriptions of three persons whom he claimed had accompanied him on various burglaries and who had fled to Cleveland in an automobile that had been stolen in Muskogee, Okla. The automobile in which Raymond Evans was captured here, police said today, had been definitely identified as one stolen in the Oklahoma city. The Evans brothers, Menace and Mrs. Evans, authorities alleged, are wanted in Muskogee on charges of burglary and assault with intent to kill.

Walter Evans is charged with having shot a policeman there.

Demand Cash Bond

S. IRONTON, Nov. 15.—Cash bond was demanded by the election board here yesterday when Owen Harmon, Democratic candidate for sheriff, defeated by Ernest Bennett by 62 votes, asked a recount. The board said it had been forced to sue bondsmen of two candidates granted recounts in the primary vote and consequently were demanding a cash bond to cover recount costs.

Salem High Closes Home Grid Season With 45-0 Victory Friday

THE DAY In Sports

PRaises SALEM TEAM
CONFERENCE CHAMP
GRIDDER WINS BET

"You know, I've officiated in 37 games—this is my 38th this season among the teams, being some of the supposed to be strongest in this section of Ohio. But of them all Salem is by far the strongest. Indeed there is little comparison between them and other district scholastic grid aggregations."

That friends, comes from the unbiased mind of Howard "Howie" Smith of the Massillon High coaching staff who umpired the Lisbon-Salem game here last night.

Smith was loud in praises of Salem's all around strength, the defensive work of the linemen, blocking ability of all players, and the sensational work of young Eddie Beck who will be back with us again in 1931 as the greatest open field runner ever developed in Salem High.

Lisbon fans certainly back their football team. Certain that Salem High's powerful combination was destined to overwhelm their own gridder, the county seat village still sent a large portion of its populace to occupy seats at Reilly athletic stadium and in addition the crack Blue and White band migrated to the stadium for the affair.

Salem and Lisbon bands added much to the evening's entertainment. The game itself was nothing outstanding and music-makers from both schools earned a great round of applause from the fans.

You know, football isn't at all what it used to be. It's much better. There wasn't a single fistic encounter, not an argument, the game was cleanly played and there was a great display of real sportsmanship by both teams and fans. The day when fights between players were one of big drawing powers to Salem-Lisbon grid tussles is gone forever.

When Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio university met at Delaware next Saturday, Buckeye football fans will see Ohio's intercollegiate gridiron classic, the game which many football followers have been looking forward to since the teams clashed last at Athens more than a year ago.

The game is important because it will determine the Buckeye conference gridiron championship but even if a title were not at stake the bitter battle which these two teams always wage against each other would attract fans by the thousands just the same. Ohio university will enter the game a decided favorite. The Bobcats' easily look from two to three touchdowns better than the Bishops' on comparative scores. The Ohio Wesleyan team will be out to spill the dope bucket, a fighting eleven anxious to play for the bucks with everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Today is a great day in the life of one Mel Philbrick, of Denver, Colo., halfback on the Denison football team. On Oct. 15, Philbrick made a bet that he would not shave for a month. His whiskers grew an inch in the allotted period and Philbrick collected $15 in wagers from his fraternity brothers.

By defeating Bacon university 22 to 7 at Boston last week, DePaula, Eastern football team gave Buckeye conference eleven they will meet next year an idea of the sort of competition they may expect from the Indiana Tigers. DePaula has only about 1,500 students while Boston enrolls 12,000.

Ten Ohio Wesleyan seniors and ten Ohio seniors will play their final game of college football when the Bishops and Bobcats meet at Delaware, Nov. 22. Ohio Wesleyan men playing their last game will be Ervyn Carlisle, Columbus; Dwight Jensen, Mt. Gilead; Gordon Newberg, Cleveland; Ted Osborn, Akron; Robert Jones, Delaware; Gordon Kraft, Oak Park, Ill.; Joe Ringhart, Marion; Elmer Reger, New Philadelphia; Charles Sausser, Findlay; and Ezra Bryan, Cleveland.

Ohio university players engaging in their final college games include Marshall Griffith, Wilkinsburg, Pa.; Charles Turzinski, Dayton; Richard Gage, Hamilton; George Brown, Maiden, Mass.; Herman Uslander, Becklyn, N. Y.; William Taraschke, Toledo; and Art Hendricks, Findlay. George Sandell, Alliance, would have played his final game in the Wesleyan clash but has been forced to quit the squad because of a serious injury to his neck.

Asks Accounting

LISBON, Nov. 15.—An assignment of debts and accounting for rents is sought by August Schindler in a petition filed by I. M. Kyes as his counsel against Harry Welch and others. The plaintiff claims an interest by inheritance in certain properties in East Palestine from which the defendants have been receiving rents since 1925.

MONTICELLO, N. Y.—Kenneth Scoville is pondering over the possibility of rabbits as tree climbers. While hunting with some friends near here he saw, what he believed to be a large gray squirrel in a tree. He fired and down came the animal. It was a gray rabbit.

Lisbon Proves Easy For Quakers; Create New Scoring Record

A dazzling offensive onslaught that forced some of the strongest scholastic gridiron aggregations in the eastern Ohio district to bow in defeat sent a plucky Lisbon High eleven reeling in bewilderment as Salem High's powerful grid machine rolled up a 45-0 victory, its ninth straight of the 1930 season at Reilly athletic stadium Friday night.

Flashing open field dashes by Ed Beck, line smashes by Johnny French and Bill Smith and great defensive work of Harold Hackett, August Corso and Paul Sartick furnished the major portion of thrills as Salem outplayed the invading varsity combination throughout and amassed a total of 19 first downs to three by the opposition. It was the most one-sided game played between football teams representing the two schools since the Red and Black annihilated Lisbon High by a 45-0 score in 1922.

That the score might have been worse had the Stonemen been so inclined is a certainty, the home town aggregation coasting through three quarters of the conflict, content with preventing Lisbon from breaking into the scoring column. The opponents never had a chance.

Johnny French Hurt
Salem won as it pleased with only one disheartening result, that occurring when French, powerful line-backing gladiator, was carried from the gridiron in the third quarter after playing a spectacular game on both defense and offense. His injuries, it is believed and hoped, are not serious.

It was the only Salem casualty of the contest of any seriousness. Hackett being battered and bruised somewhat but he will be back in the lineup for the annual tussle with Alliance High's formidable crew of grid talent Thanksgiving Day.

The result of the contest brought to Coach Stone's team a new Salem High scoring record, the gridder having scored 287 points in the ten games played this season, surpassing the previous record of 266, established in 1922, by 21 points.

Lisbon scored after 72 seconds of play in the first quarter, Lisbon kicking off to A Corso who ran the ball back five yards and six inches to the 30-yard-line. On the first play from scrimmage Beck smashed through the opposing line for nine yards and Bill Smith, on the next offensive drive, tore the Lisbon team to shreds to advance the pigskin to his own 48.

Standing ten yards back of the line of scrimmage, Beck received the flip from Center Sartick, picked his field and dashed the 58 yards for a touchdown. French scored the extra point standing up.

Cornelli, full-sized Lisbon captain and quarterback, brought fans

Expect More Than 475,000 Licenses Will Be Issued

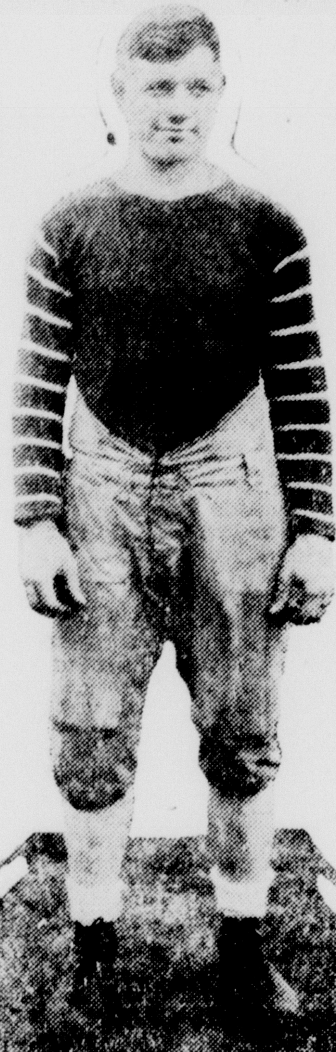

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15.—The hunting season which opens in Ohio today will bring out a majority of the approximately half million hunters in Ohio. Over 475,000 hunters licenses will be issued according to estimates of the state division of conservation.

Landowners and tenants are not required to purchase licenses for their own lands. The League of Ohio Sportsmen which represents 60,000 organized hunters and fishermen is asking all its members to seek permission before hunting on any farmer's lands and to respect the landowners' property rights. Farmers this year in many parts of Ohio are more liberal and are granting permission to hunt to those who request it. It is worth having, its worth asking for.

The Conservation council using its authority granted under the Conservation Act, has reduced the bag limit on Hungarian partridges from six to four birds per day, as a conservation measure to give the birds a chance to prepopulate and to prevent depletion. Hungarians are plentiful in northwestern Ohio where they seem to find the most suitable habitat. A Hungarian partridge will weigh about 12 ounces and four birds will make a good game dinner for the average family. They are twice as large as quail. There is no change on ring-neck pheasants, on which the law places limit of two cock birds per day, with not more than two days' kill in possession at any one time. Pheasants are plentiful in nearly all central Ohio counties. Due to the dry season rabbits are unusually plentiful especially in southern Ohio. Ohio hunters are looking forward to an unusually good game season.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H.—A sunflower 50 inches in circumference and weighing four pounds and five ounces has been raised by Miss Juste R. Rand.

Glenn Goss, Mount Union star forward passer, who was injured in Tuesday's 13-13 game with Ashland, will be in the Mount lineup when the team clashes with Wooster at the Alliance grid stadium Saturday afternoon.

Illness Postpones Canton Fight Show

(By Branch Moore Licensed Wire)
CANTON, Nov. 15.—Illness of Maxie Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight champion, at his home in New York has caused postponement for one week of his bout scheduled here next Monday night with Patsy Perroni, Canton youngster. The card has been set back to Nov. 24 at Rosenbloom's request.

The illness of the champion has been verified by the New York commission which will not allow him to meet any other opponent until he has filed his engagement here with Perroni.

TONY CANZONERI TAKES TITLE BY BEATING SINGER

Little Italian Lad Annexes Honors In New York Slugfest Friday

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Two years ago they said he was through, but Tony Canzoneri, the little Italian who began his fantastic boxing career as a bootblack, is the lightweight champion today.

In less time than it takes to tell it Tony, who two years ago lost his featherweight title to Andre Routsis, and a year later was badly whipped by Jackie Kid Berg, floor-fighter Al Singer for the count of ten and won the lightweight title at Madison Square Garden last night. Two clean punches, both left hooks to the jaw, returned the smiling little Italian to the top of the boxing world.

When Canzoneri's hand was raised in token of victory one minute and six seconds after they had shook hands in the center of the ring, it was the third time that the lightweight title had changed hands in less than a round. More than 25 years ago Joe Gans, the immortal, knocked out Frankie Erne at Fort Erie, N. Y., in 54 seconds and last summer Singer lowered Sammy Mandell, then holder of the title, in a little more than two minutes.

It may have been that Singer was a little too ambitious when he stepped out to meet Jimmy McLarnin shortly after winning his title and was flattened in three rounds. Again it may have been Canzoneri had not gone back as much as the followers of the game thought. But whatever was the reason, the Italian was easily the master of the Jewish champion.

who won the title less than five months ago.
For one minute they bobbed and weaved but not a blow was struck. Then Canzoneri came out of the clinch, stepped back and let loose with a terrific left hook. Singer staggered but recovered and dodged the next of the same kind but the third hook he could not escape and went down face flat on the mat.

Republican Reorganization Is Urged By Party Leaders

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Reorganization of the Republican machine has been urged upon President Hoover by some leaders high in the party who are looking ahead to 1932.

There is a feeling in the Republican high command that Senator Fess of Ohio will resign as national chairman after completing the job for which he was chosen—piloting the party through the congressional campaign.

Speculation over a successor to Fess already has begun and in this the name of Robert Lucas, of Kentucky, now executive chairman of the Republican organization, is heard most frequently.

The Republican reorganization urged upon the president goes far beyond a change in the chairmanship but the leaders are not saying much about it as they seek to get their bearings from last week's election.

Greater attention of the public work during the idle weeks preceding the next election campaign is one thing stressed in their talks. The matter of Senator Fess' eventual resignation is linked to some extent with the belief held among his friends that the Ohioian is ready to take an active part in the defense of prohibition. He has stated that to participate in such a contest would require him to give up the national chairmanship.

As long as his party leadership is under attack by the wets, however, Senator Fess is standing his ground. He has termed untrue reports that he is resigning at this time.

No Decision In Lake Cargo Coal Rate Fight Until July

Interested Parties Given Until Feb. 1 To File Briefs

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Prospects of any decision by the interstate commerce commission on the lake cargo coal rate controversy between mine operators of Ohio and Pennsylvania and southern interests before next July appeared remote today despite the introduction of all direct and rebuttal testimony.

February 1 Deadline
Examiner C. M. Bardwell, before whom the three separate hearings commencing last June have been held, gave all interested parties until Feb. 1 in which to file briefs attacking or defending testimony. It is probable he will require an-before handing down his proposed report, after which at least another month will be allowed for exceptions and answers to be filed until oral arguments are held before the entire commission.

Council for the Ohio and Pennsylvania coal operators, who contend the 35-cent differential now existing in coal freight rates from northern points over southern points is both unduly prejudicial and preferential in favor of the southern operators, concluded their rebuttal with testimony from two of the leading coal operators of their district.

Southern Markets Safe
J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal company, expressed the opinion that any increase in the differential would not destroy southern markets in the northwest, while H. L. Findlay, vice president of the Youghiogheny & Ohio Coal Co. of Cleveland, introduced voluminous tables disclosing that since 1917 southern interests have greatly expanded their lake cargo business despite the fact the differential then was but 28 cents in favor of Ohio mines.

At hearings held in Chicago last month leading southern coal men testified an increase in the present rate differential between northern and southern territory would ruin their lake cargo business.

WEST VIRGINIA MINES MERGED

More Than 10 Properties Become $10,000,000 Organization

(By United Press)
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 15.—The merger of more than 40 mining properties in northern West Virginia into a $10,000,000 concern was announced today after a charter application for the Three Cities Fuel Corporation, with headquarters in Fairmont, had been filed.

The consolidation, it was announced, represents a concerted move by Monongahela valley financial groups to expand the coal industry in the northern part of the state. The mining properties are located in Monongahela, Taylor, Marion, Barbour and Harrison counties, producing 5,000,000 tons annually.

The company is expected to be in operation within 30 days.

Those listed in the charter as incorporators were C. W. Watson, Fairmont; H. C. Greer, Morgantown; J. H. Thomas, Fairmont; Carl L. Horner, Clarksburg; George M. Alexander, Fairmont; C. W. Green, Fairmont; James R. Moreland, Morgantown; and Louis A. Johnson, Clarksburg.

Cut Traffic Fines

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15.—Parking overtime on downtown streets now costs $1 instead of $3, and not stopping at a through street costs $3 instead of $10. The reduction was made yesterday, officials said, to pull into line with other cities and to reduce traffic cases in effort as was believed violators would pay lesser fines rather than go to court.

MOVIES

In Talkie Role

Richard Dix plays the leading role in "Shooting Straight," a talkie feature scheduled here next week.

Dorothy Sebastian and Ralph Forbes play leading roles in two feature talkie films scheduled for appearance at the Salem theaters next week. Miss Sebastian interprets the feminine lead in "Hell's Island" which begins a three-day run at the State Thursday and is William Boyd's leading lady in "Officer O'Brien" the Royal's attraction Friday and Saturday.

Forbes also appears in a leading role in "Hell's Island" and is in a featured role in "Ladies of Leisure," showing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the State.

"Billy the Kid" which will open at the Grand Monday, relates the daring exploits of the famous New Mexico outlaw during the period when cattle wars were continuous.
The picture is based on a cattle-man's war during the years 1878-83 and narrates incidents taking place between those "covered wagon" days and modern periods. John Mack Brown, former Alabama football star, plays "The Kid" with Miss Kay Johnson enacting the leading feminine role. Wallace Berry of "The Big House" fame, has a strong supporting role.

Dix In Lead Role

Richard Dix, starred in "Shooting Straight," appears at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It shows Dix as a gambler mistaken for a reformer by the girl in the picture, enacted by Mary Lawlor. Miss Lawlor pleads with Dix to reform her weakling brother and prevent him from gambling resulting circumstances, inevitably bring Dix into a series of interesting humorous and thrilling adventures.

"Ladies of Leisure," showing at the State three days starting Monday, concerns a "party girl" who meets an artist, learns to love him in spite of herself, then wins his affections only to be dissuaded from the match by the boy's parents. Barbara Stanwyck, Ralph Graves, Marie Prevost, Lowell
Sherman, George Fawcett and Nance O'Neill are the leading performers.

Foreign Legion Drama

"Hell's Island" is previewed as a dramatic spectacle of two American buddies in the French Foreign Legion. The advent of Marie, a cabaret dancer, played by Miss Sebastian, into the lives of the Yanks, marks a turning point in their lives and severs their cordial relationship. The scenes are enacted on an island and are cast accurately and in strong realistic manner.
William Boyd enacts the title role in "Officer O'Brien" with his father, Ernest Torrence, playing the part of a crook. The father-son battle brings the picture to the fore as one of the year's good productions. Boyd being involved in a fight to oust a powerful underworld leader.

LEETONIA

LAW ENFORCERS WILL NOT ASK REPEAL ACTION

Deny They Will Suggest
Four Per Cent Beer
Or Referendum

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Repeal of the 18th amendment has been definitely discarded by President Hoover's law enforcement commission as a solution of the present prohibition problem.

Commission members today had reached certain tentative conclusions—all of them subject to change —as to what they believe should be done to improve the situation surrounding the dry law. Such an event-uality as repeal, however, was not included among them.

Deny Four Percent Beer

An authoritative denial has been entered also to the oft-repeated rumors that the commission as a whole will recommend four per cent beer, or that it will urge a national referendum to determine sentiment upon the prohibition law.

Whether a final agreement will be reached upon some plan to strengthen the present system, or whether some form of modification will be urged, however, remained a question which only the eleven members of the commission could answer, and the secret was guarded with the same care that has surrounded all their 17 months of prohibition deliberation.

No "Pussyfooting"

Word has come from within the commission ranks, nevertheless, that these 17 months of investigation have uncovered "astounding" things, and that "there will be no pussyfooting" in the forthcoming dry law report.

From certain members also has come assurance that the report surely can be laid on President Hoover's desk by January 1, and probably before.

FUND PLANNED FOR FARM AID

$60,000,000 Appropriation May Be Made By Government

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—An appropriation of $60,000,000 for loans to farmers in the drought areas with which to buy seed, fertilizer and other necessities for planting next year's crops is planned by the administration.

The measure, now being drafted at the capitol, will be among the first to be presented to congress when it convenes for the short session on December 1. Senator Mc-Nary, Republican, Oregon, the chairman of the agriculture committee, probably will sponsor the measure in that branch.

The seed loans will be made available to the farmers of the twenty-one states included in the drought area during the emergency relief period and probably will be dispensed by the department of agriculture. This legislation, together with the bills to expand the government building program in the interests of relieving unemployment will command first attention of the congress under the administration's program.

Ask Me Another ---

THE POPULAR PLAN of guessing answers to questions that will give you valuable information, is an admirable one. A still more important game is to ask yourself questions like the following:

How much money have I in the bank?
How much insurance do I carry?
What is the value of my estate today?
Isn't it time that I should get busy and build up that estate every month regularly, through a savings account?

We'll help you make better answers.
